Walk Details

This walk is based on the route of a Pilgrimage path which has been in use since the 12th Century. Today the route, which is fully sign-posted, extends through an area being managed by Coillte, the Irish Forestry organisation. In addition to its historical interest, the walk also offers exceptional lakeside views of Lough Derg and the surrounding countryside. A number of spurs allow access to view points and sites of historic interest.

- Distance: Approximately 12 kms
- Time: 3 - 4 hours
- Terrain: Forest paths and roads.
- Grading: Easy - the path is well marked and almost level as it winds its way along the shore.

Getting There

The walk is accessed via Pettigo. Leave the town and head north on the R233 for approximately 7.5 kms. This will take you to the ferry point for St Patrick's Purgatory where there is a car park and the start of the walk.
